Fund profile

As of 6/30/2017

For more than 20 years the Sentinel Small Company Fund has leveraged a quality-centric strategy to offer investors a small cap investment vehicle that has historically:

- Delivered consistent long-term performance
- Provided attractive returns relative to the benchmark during periods of high volatility
- Offered better downside risk management relative to its benchmark

Quality has historically delivered performance

While small caps have performed roughly in line with the broader equity market as measured by the S&P 500 over the last 20 years, the Sentinel Small Company Fund's focus on quality has led to meaningful outperformance over many asset classes as well as its peer group during that same time period. In fact, a $10,000 investment in the Fund at inception in 1993 would have grown to more than $100,000.

Growth of $10,000 since fund inception*

Furthermore, the Sentinel Small Company Fund has demonstrated an impressive record for consistency and positive performance, with positive returns in every five- and ten-year period, calculated on a calendar year basis.

One-year periods
87% positive returns
65% for Russell 2000 Index

Three-year periods
90% positive returns
86% for Russell 2000 Index

Five-year periods
100% positive returns
89% for Russell 2000 Index

Ten-year periods
100% positive returns
100% for Russell 2000 Index

In addition, the Sentinel Small Company Fund has exhibited great resiliency during periods of market stress relative to the Russell 2000 Index, outperforming the index during each instance of market declines over the rolling one-, three- and five-year periods.

Capitalizing on Quality: The Sentinel Small Company Fund

What exactly are quality companies? At Sentinel we define quality companies as those possessing the following essential traits:

- Consistent earnings performance
- Reasonable valuations
- Strong management with a history of good capital allocation decisions
- Low debt levels
- Strong free cash flows

We believe these are traits of companies that may outperform in various markets, and are also the traits that form the core of the portfolio in the Sentinel Small Company Fund.

The proof is in the performance

Small company stocks can be more volatile than large company stocks. International securities are subject to political influences, currency fluctuations and economic cycles that may be unrelated to those affecting the domestic financial markets and may experience wider price fluctuations than US domestic securities.

Certain Sentinel Funds have adopted a redemption fee. For the Small Company Fund, a fee of 2% will be assessed on the redemption of shares held for 30 calendar days or less.

- Performance of the Class A shares prior to March 30, 2016 has not been adjusted to reflect the decrease in the maximum 12b-1 fee from 0.30% to 0.25%. If it had, those returns would be higher.
- Performance of the Small Company Fund's Class I shares prior to their inception on May 4, 2007 is based on the performance of the Fund's Class A shares, restated to reflect that Class I shares are not subject to a sales charge. The "since inception" performance data for Class I shares is calculated from the inception date of the Fund. Only eligible investors may purchase Class I shares, as described in the prospectus.
- Performance of the Sentinel Small Company Fund Class R6 shares prior to their inception on December 23, 2014 is based on the performance of the Fund's Class A shares, restated to reflect that Class R6 shares are not subject to a sales charge. The "since inception" performance data for Class R6 shares is calculated from the inception date of the Fund. Only eligible investors may purchase Class R6 shares, as described in the prospectus.

Morningstar ratings reflect historical risk-adjusted performance and are subject to change every month. Exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and open end mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. Ratings are based on a risk-adjusted return measure that accounts for variations in monthly performance. Ratings do not take into account the effects of sales charges. Morningstar ratings emphasize downward variations and reward consistent performance. Ten percent of the funds in a category receive five stars, 22.5% four stars, 35% three stars, 22.5% two stars and 10% one star. The Overall Rating reflects a weighted average of a fund's 3-, 5- and 10-year (if applicable) risk adjusted performance.

a. Morningstar ratings for Class A shares as of June 30, 2017 are Overall (599 funds): 5 stars, 3 years (599 funds): 4 stars, 5 years (533 funds): 4 stars, and 10 years (398 funds): 5 stars.

b. Morningstar rankings for Class A shares as of June 30, 2017 are 1 year (678 funds): 35%, 3 years (599 funds): 24%, 5 years (533 funds): 27%, and 10 years (398 funds): 20%.

Active Share is a measure of the percentage of stock holdings in a manager's portfolio that differ from the benchmark index. Alpha measures the difference between the fund's actual returns and its expected returns given its level of risk (as measured by the beta). Beta is a measure of a fund's sensitivity to market movements. A portfolio with a beta greater than 1 is more volatile than the market, and a portfolio with a beta less than 1 is less volatile than the market. Information Ratio is defined as expected active return divided by tracking error, where active return is the difference between the return of the fund and the return of a selected benchmark index, and tracking error is the standard deviation of the active return. Upside capture is a statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance during a period when its benchmark has had a positive return. Downside capture is a statistical measure of an investment manager's overall performance during a period when its benchmark has had a negative return.

The Russell 2000 Index is an unmanaged index of approximately 2000 small-cap companies within the US equity universe.

The Standard & Poor's 500 Index is an unmanaged index of approximately 500 widely held US equity securities chosen for market size, liquidity, and industry group representation.

The return for the Morningstar category is an average of funds within the particular category as determined by Morningstar based on investment styles as measured by their underlying portfolio holdings.

The Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) Europe, Australasia, Far East (EAFE) Index is an unmanaged, free float-adjusted, market capitalization-weighted index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of developed markets, excluding the US and Canada.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index is an unmanaged index of the US investment grade fixed-rate bond market, with components for government and corporate securities, mortgage pass-through securities and asset-backed securities.
